

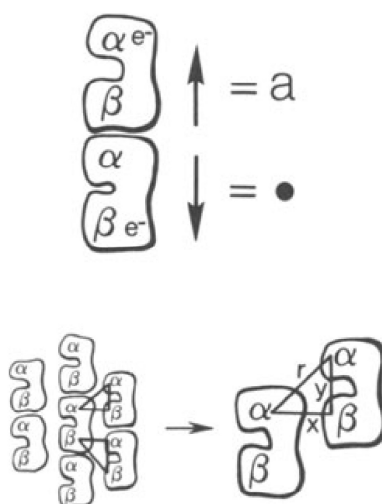

Fig. 4. Dimer subunits in automaton neighborhood. Assuming α and β monomers share an electron, dimer is in α state (represented by a) if dipole orientation is toward α monomer, and dimer is in β state (represented by $\cdot$) if dipole orientation is toward the β monomer. Relative distances among neighbor loci may be represented by r , x , and y .